A wonderful and very useful Italian 18th century Louis XVI period walnut center/ dining table from the Tuscany region. The square table with two fitted extensions is raised by four solid walnut turned legs ending with an elegant topie shape. The legs are all pegged to the straight apron which has a drawer at one end. The table has a fitted extension at each side which is hidden beneath the top. The two extensions (19") can easily be pulled out and the top gets realigned to the sides. Rich and warm patina throughout.
