A handsome French 19th century Louis XIV st. oak and Sarrancolin marble center table. The rectangular center table is raised by fine topie shaped feet below handsome square tapered carved legs with fine foliate carvings. Each leg is connected by a most decorative mottled scalloped shaped stretcher with a central unique double finial design. The apron is centered by a unique deep scalloped shaped reserve with beautiful richly carved scrolled leaves and flowers surrounding a fabulous foliate reserve. The back is decorated in the same manner while each side displays a charming and richly detailed woven basket with lovely flowers. Above is the original Sarrancolin marble top with a fine mottled border. Beautiful original honey colored patina throughout.
