A handsome and finely detailed French 18th century Regence st. Breccia Nuvolata Rosa Marble and Oak console. This freestanding Oak table is raised by four rounded cabriole legs decorated with scrolling acanthus leaves and supported by fine hoof feet. Above each leg are square corner blocks that flank a finely detailed lattice pattern with a laurel spray central reserve. Below the central reserve is a stunning pierced scrolling foliate apron. The two side aprons have similar designs with their pierced scrolling foliate bands, finely detailed lattice patterns, and seashell central reserves. Atop the wonderfully carved Oak table is the two part Breccia Nuvolata Rosa Marble top with mottled edges.
