A stunning and extremely decorative Italian 19th century Louis XV st. giltwood and porcelain side table. The circular table is raised by an elegant tripod base with cabriole legs and fine scrolled feet adorned with richly carved foliate designs. The lightly tapered baluster shaped support displays additional finely detailed foliate carvings and a wrap around mottled beaded band. The top displays a striking intricately detailed hand painted and gilded fitted plate with charming winged cherubs playing along side of a beautiful maiden laying down and draped in a blanket with a mandolin at her side. A fine berried laurel and gadroon designed band extends along the border.
