A beautiful and most elegant French 19th century Louis XV st. giltwood and Vert Campan marble center table. The scalloped table is raised by lovely cabriole legs with scrolled acanthus leaf feet connected by an elegantly curved X shaped stretcher with a delicate mottled design and striking extremely decorative central reeded and foliate reserve. Above each leg are additional remarkable foliate carvings at each corner with fine scrolled designs and charming blooming flowers flanking the scalloped frieze with an impressive central richly carved reeded foliate gadroon like reserve in a superb satin and burnished finish set on a stunning lattice designed background. Above is the beautiful original Vert Campan marble top with a lovely scalloped movement and a fine mottled border. All original gilt throughout.
