An extremely elegant French 19th century Louis XVI st. giltwood and Rouge Griotte marble freestanding console. The console is raised by circular tapered fluted legs with carved mottled designs, topie shaped feet and fine fitted Entrelacs et Les Rosaces patterns above. The apron is centered by a most decorative interlocking circular pattern with detailed foliate rosettes. Leading outwards are the same patterns set on carved recessed backgrounds and flanked by lovely block rosettes above each leg. The sides are decorated in the same manner. Above is the original Rouge Griotte marble top with protruding corners and a fine mottled border follows the contours of the console.
