A most impressive and extremely elegant French 19th century Louis XVI st. Giltwood double frame mirror. The central mirror plate is surrounded by a mottled border while the outer mirror plates are richly decorated by etched designs of foliate and floral branches. The bottom of the mirror is adorned with a central seashell reserve flanked by scrolls, foliate carvings and acanthus leaves leading up each side. Above is a central reserve flanked by additional wonderfully decorative scrolled foliate branches and acanthus leaves with the top crown showcasing a charming mandolin in front of sheet music. All original mirror plates throughout.
