A stunning and extremely decorative French 19th century Louis XVI st. patinated wood and faux painted Vert de Patricia marble center table. The rectangular table is raised by elegant mottled topie shaped feet below impressive tapered fluted baluster shaped legs with richly carved acanthus leaves and patinated green carved fitted foliate chandelles. Each leg is connected by a beautiful stretcher with fine arch shaped fluted designs along the sides leading to the exceptional central fluted urn with Greek key handles and superb intricately detailed blooming flowers and wonderful swaging floral garlands. Above each leg are finely carved block rosettes flanking the straight frieze decorated with a beautiful wrap around twisted band and striking pierced interlocking rosettes and most decorative interlocking geometric designs. Above is the beautiful wonderfully executed faux painted Vert de Patricia marble top with a fine mottle border.
