An elegant French 19th century Louis XVI st. patinated wood cabinet vitrine.

The four door vitrine is raised by fine topie shaped fluted feet below the lovely straight fluted apron. The base displays two doors with most decorative reeded panels framed within a mottled border with charming finely carved rosettes and which open to reveal one shelf. Flanking the doors are fluted columns leading upwards while the side panels also display a fine mottled design. The top displays two doors, each retaining their original glass panes also framed within elegant mottled borders with lovely carved corner rosettes. The top crown displays a stepped design and most decorative dentil band. All original patina throughout.
