A beautiful and most unique French 19th century Louis XVI st. Sèvres porcelain and ormolu clock lamp. The clock/lamp is raised by an elegant square ormolu base with concave corners, lovely scalloped sides and decorated with charming vines tied with a bow at each side, a mottled border and a fine wrap around beaded band. The socle shaped pedestal support is decorated with gilt foliate accents below reeded mottled ormolu supports and beautiful designs encasing the body. The elegantly shaped body displays a wonderfully executed hand painted winged cherub with a bow and an arrow, a cherub holding a beautiful blooming flower garland draped in a flowing fabric and a charming lute among musical notations, an additional bow and arrow all amidst clouds framed within a gold tooled border. At the center of the front is the stunning clock face with a charming finely detailed hand painted winged cherub with a bow and arrow and quiver and tambourine, lovely foliate ormolu hands and Roman hour markings all framed within mottled reeded and beaded ormolu bands. Scrolled ormolu supports lead up each side with fine laurel designs striking masks of beautiful richly chased maidens below pierced scrolled fluted handles. At the back is the pierced sunburst like designed cover with a most decorative central star also framed within mottled beaded wrap around bands and set on a captivating hand painted scene of a beautiful clearing overlooking water with trees and mountains in the background. Above the curved neck is the reeded top cap with fine palmettes and foliate designs with lovely beaded bands and fine leaves.
