An exquisite and very high quality French 19th century Neo-Classical st. burl Walnut, ormolu, and Brocatelle Jaune du Jura marble buffet, attributed to Maison Krieger. The two door one drawer vitrine is raised by elegant ball feet with unique and most decorative foliate top caps below striking columns leading upwards decorated with superb foliate palmette designed plinths. Above a lovely mottled foliate ormolu band are the two central doors each retaining their original glass panes fitted within a beautiful burl walnut border and which open to reveal one shelf and the original mirrored backplate. The lovely curved sides also retain their original glass panes. Above the columns are stunning ormolu mounts of beautiful intricately detailed maidens amidst richly chased scrolled foliate and blooming flower designs. The frieze is centered by one drawer with a stunning pierced cornucopia and blooming flower ormolu keyhole escutcheon flanked by rectangular plaques of handsome panthers set on a hammered background with a fine beaded and mottled border. At the curved sides are exceptional pierced mounts with elegant swans perched on trumpets amidst lovely scrolled foliate movements with swaging floral garlands and charming finely detailed blooming flowers. Above is the original Brocatelle Jaune du Jura marble top. All original gilt throughout.
