An impressive and very handsome French 19th century Neo-Classical st. mahogany, ebony, ormolu, mirror and black Belgian marble console. The free standing console is raised by an elegant bottom tier with a fine mottled border and a pierced central foliate ormolu mount. To each side are striking scrolled supports with handsome richly chased paw feet and exceptional palmette and rosette mounts in a rich satin and burnished finish. At the center is the original mirror backplate framed within mahogany columns. The straight apron displays a concealed central mechanical drawer opened by a button underneath. The drawer displays a beautiful fitted ormolu plaque framed within an ebony band also repeated above each support. Above is the original black Belgian marble top fitted within fine mottled ormolu and mahogany bands. All original gilt throughout.
