A striking and very unique French 19th century Renaissance st. ormolu and silvered bronze box. The most decorative box is raised by fine topie shaped feet below elegant tassels and a wrap around Les Oves band with a charming central rosette at the front. The wonderfully executed silvered bronze box displays a mottled wrap around band and exceptional richly chased fitted ormolu medallions of a handsome bearded man and a beautiful maiden also repeated at the sides and back. The box displays lovely foliate designs with palmettes and trumpet like scrolled movements centering an architectural column adorned with a finely detailed swaging berried laurel garland. The lid displays an impressive crouched lion set on additional scrolled foliate designs. The lid opens to reveal a beautiful tufted blue fabric interior.
