A beautiful and very unique French 19th century Transitional st. Kingwood and ormolu cartonnier cabinet. The one door seven drawer cabinet is raised by elegant smaller cabriole legs with richly chased foliate ormolu sabots in a warm satin and burnished finish. At the base is the single door decorated with an exceptional quarter veneered Kingwood showcasing the stunning wood grain with a fine ormolu keyhole escutcheon and which opens to reveal the finished interior with one shelf and original hardware. Above are the seven drawers each retaining their original leather gold tooled fronts with superb floral ormolu pulls and colorful Vitruvian scrolled designed paper inside. The side panels display additional stunning veneered Kingwood designs curving up to the rectangular top with a fine mottled ormolu gallery.
