A high quality French early 19th century Louis XV st. Giltwood and Breccia Nuvolata Rosa marble center table. The console is raised on four richly carved slender cabriole legs adorned with bottom scrolled acanthus leaves leading to burnished cabochons and outer reeded designs. The top of each leg displays a wonderful scrolled reserve with flowers at the front and smooth cabochons at the back, and flanked by scrolled foliate movements along the pierced scalloped apron and sides. Asymmetrical central foliate reserves accent the front and back of the console, while pierced seashell shaped reserves in a stunning satin and burnished finish can be found at each side. At the top lays its original marble with wonderful mottled border.
