A stunning French mid 18th century Régence Period Rosewood, ormolu, and Coquiller de Bilbao marble commode. The four drawer chest is raised by elegantly curved feet with impressive pierced ormolu sabots with beautiful acanthus leaf designs leading up each side to lovely finely detailed scrolled foliate movements and striking richly chased beautiful maidens at each corner in an exceptional satin and burnished finish. The drawers each display wonderful pierced scrolled foliate ormolu pulls with handsome intricately detailed gentlemen in hats and superb pierced keyhole escutcheons with lovely maidens, additional foliate designs, and a fine central seashell all set on the beautiful marquetry background. The sides display a remarkable and most decorative curvaceous shape with similar wonderfully executed inlaid marquetry designs. Above is the original Coquiller de Bilbao marble with a fine mottled border.
