An exquisite and high quality French mid 19th century Empire st. Ormolu portico clock. The clock is raised on a rectangular base with finely chased borders and an intricate reserve of overlapping wreaths in a stunning satin and burnished finish. Above are four Ormolu columns with berried laurel plinths and intricately chased capitals flanking the wonderful clock face adorned with rosettes. Supported by the columns is the impressive top crown with square rosettes below a dentil band and flat capital.
