A beautiful pair of French 19th century Directoire st. patinated wood consoles. Each freestanding demi lune console is raised by elegant tapered fluted legs with fine carved topie shaped feet and foliate top caps. Above each leg are fluted block reserves flanking striking diamond shaped reserves with central richly carved rosettes also set on a most decorative fluted background all below a lovely dentil designed band. The painted top showcases the beautiful patina and displays a fine mottled border. All original patina throughout.
