A most elegant and high quality pair of French 19th century Louis XVI st. ormolu and white Carrara marble Guéridon side tables. Each Guéridon table is raised by handsome finely detailed ormolu hoof feet with large acanthus leaves and three beautifully scrolled tapered legs with richly chased rams heads above. The legs are connected by a fine bottom triangular stretcher with concave sides and a central floral rosette. Above is the central tier retaining its original white Carrara marble top fitted within a mottled and beaded wrap around ormolu gallery. The circular marble tops retain their original white Carrara marble surfaces decorated in the same manner and fitted within mottled and beaded wrap around ormolu galleries.
