An impressive and large scaled pair of French 19th century Louis XVI st. Sèvres porcelain and ormolu vases signed by Sèvres. Each vase is raised by an elegant square ormolu base with cut corners and decorative Greek key like designs. The socle shaped pedestals display fine wrap around beaded ormolu bands and lovely gold tooled wrap around berried laurel bands. The beautiful Sèvres porcelain bodies each display charming and finely detailed hand painted scenes of a man and two ladies in the beautiful French countryside laying with a fan and playing backgammon. Striking richly chased scrolled ormolu handles lead up each side with large acanthus leaves and remarkable berried laurel wreath handles. The elegantly curved necks display additional gold tooled wrap around berried laurel branches and beautiful blue rims where the finished inside displays the signature.
