A handsome pair of French 19th century Louis XVI st. tulipwood and mahogany chests. Each chest is raised by square tapered feet with impressive foliate wraparound ormolu sabots. The straight frieze is centered by a pierced scrolled ormolu mount. Above are drawers with ormolu pulls, the top two drawers is actually a door. Flanked by columns with a central rosette and a high quality ormolu mount with elegant parquetry at each side. At the top are a row of richly chased rosettes, the middle one with a small push button in the center that unlocks the door and drawers. All below the Sarrancolin marble tops. With all original warm patina and gilt throughout.
