An elegant set of four French early 19th century Directoire st. Patinated wood armchairs. Each wonderful chair is raised by circular tapered front legs with two mottled bands and ending with a ball shaped support at the front. The back legs are square tapered shaped with a slight curve. The top of the front legs are decorated by a carved rosette below a reeded block and turned cylinder arm with mottled bands. The upholstered arms are finished with a top carved rosette and lead to the scrolled upholstered back. All original painted finish throughout with a nice and attractive patina and natural wear.
