A stunning and very high quality true pair of French 19th century Louis XVI st. Belle Époque period patinated bronze, verdigris ormolu and Porphyry candelabra lamps. Each six arm lamp is raised by a square Porphyry base with a striking wrap around berried laurel ormolu band and exceptional richly chased swaging blooming flower garlands encasing the circular Porphyry support. At the center are charming verdigris cherubs sitting on patinated bronze rocks and wearing vines in their hair while holding a beautiful foliate cornucopia like support leading to the arms. Each of the arms displays branch like designs seemingly growing upwards with remarkable richly chased leaves and flowers leading to superb blooming flower candle cups.
