A unique and most striking Italian 17th century giltwood pair of wings set on a fabulous faux painted marble decorative background. At the center are the impressive and large scaled richly carved wings which protrude over 11" from the frame. The wings display superb attention to detail and are decorative from many angles. These are set on a wonderfully executed faux painted green marble and faux painted Porphyry background framed in a mottled giltwood and faux painted marble border. All original gilt throughout.
