An exceptional and extremely decorative Italian 18th century Louis XV period Walnut and Brèche de Sicile marble bombée commode from Rome. The two drawer chest is raised by elegant cabriole legs below the superb deep arbalest shaped frieze. At the center are the two drawers each displaying fine wrap around inlaid wood fillets and striking brass keyhole escutcheons with lovely foliate designs. Each side also displays most decorative inlaid fillets showcasing the superb wood grain while the corners display richly carved palmettes. Above is the stunning original thick Brèche de Sicile marble top with an exceptional quarter veneered design.
