A stunning and extremely high quality Italian 19th century Alabaster statue of a young girl feeding birds. The statue is raised by an oblong base with a lovely paved ground like design where a charming finely detailed bird is eating grains off the ground. The beautiful young girl is leaning on a richly sculpted rock with an exquisite array of wonderfully executed blooming flowers. She is wearing an elegant dress falling off of her shoulder with a fine dentil design with a bow in her hair and a lovely necklace. She holds her dress up filling it with the grain that she is spilling to feed the birds. Available with complimentary pedestal item #9947, sold separately.
