A handsome and extremely decorative Italian 19th century Charles X st. Cherrywood Birchwood and Gris St. Anne marble console. The uniquely designed freestanding console is raised by elegant bun feet below impressive lightly tapered circular fluted column supports with lovely foliate top and bottom caps at the front and rectangular column supports at the back. The console displays an exceptional thick bottom tier with a beautiful scalloped shaped front and a fine decorative inlaid wood fillet at the border. The straight frieze also displays a fine fillet at the border and is centered by a striking pierced Birchwood reserve with remarkable scrolled foliate movements, beautiful palmettes, and a central rosette. Above is the original Gris St. Anne marble top with elegantly rounded corners.
