A striking Italian 19th century Louis XV st. giltwood and Brèche Jaune marble center table. The scalloped table is raised by most elegant cabriole legs with beautiful scrolled acanthus leaf feet and richly carved blooming flowers above. Each leg is connected by a lovely elegantly curved stretcher with additional very decorative scalloped foliate designs with a central floral reserve. The pierced frieze is centered by an impressive scrolled gadroon reserve with a richly carved blooming flower flanked by foliate movements also repeated at the back and each side. Above is the original Brèche Jaune marble top repeating the beautiful scalloped design of the table. All original gilt throughout.
