A handsome and very elegant Italian early 19th century Louis XVI st. walnut commode. The four drawer chest is raised by fine square tapered legs below the straight frieze decorated with an intricately inlaid dentil design. Each of the four drawers are decorated with most unique and extremely decorative alternating inlaid fillets creating an exceptional asymmetrical optical illusion. Each drawer also displays lovely diamond shaped keyhole escutcheons while the bottom two drawers display richly chased berried laurel ormolu pulls.

Each side is decorated in the same manner with additional lovely inlaid fillets. The beautiful butterfly veneered top showcases the warm walnut grain and displays an additional intricately inlaid dentil design inlaid at the border.
