A most handsome Italian 18th century Louis XIV st. walnut and specimen marble center table. The table is raised by impressive and richly carved square tapered legs with finely detailed scrolled foliate and charming lattice designs. The top of each leg displays a superb capital like design with scrolled movements and impressive finely detailed masks. The straight apron displays a most decorative carved mottled foliate band repeated at the sides and back. Above is the original stunningly inlaid specimen marble top with a striking array of fitted square cut marbles including Porphyry, Rouge Griotte, Sienna, and Vert Patricia to name but a few, and all framed within a walnut border.
