A spectacular and most impressive Italian mid 17th century Baroque Period Giltwood and grey marble console. The console is raised on four scrolled legs adorned with burnished acanthus leaves, with each being joined by two side stretchers and a stunning central stretcher decorated with an exception shell like reserve. Each leg displays impressive acanthus leaf carvings below the straight frieze with a lower pierced scrolled reserve and a central carved cherub flanked by rosettes and foliage between the top and bottom mottle bands. Each side is decorated in the same manner, with the wonderful grey and white veined marble above. All original gilt throughout.
