A very elegant and most decorative French 19th century Louis XVI st. ormolu and Sèvres porcelain chandelier. The six light chandelier is centered by a fine bottom acorn finial amidst lovely foliate designs. The beautiful Sèvres porcelain body displays three most charming and wonderfully executed scenes of playful finely detailed hand painted winged cherubs. One is holding a staff and coupe, another holds a sickle and the other a bow and fine floral wreath. Three fine foliate ormolu movements encase the body and lead upwards to three pairs of arms each adorned with elegant acanthus leaves and fine foliate candle cups. Three delicate and uniquely designed chains lead upwards to the Sèvres porcelain canopy with lovely hand painted flowers, a striking ormolu acorn finial and wrap around band. All original gilt throughout.
