A very elegant pair of Italian early 19th century Louis XV st. walnut and mahogany, one door cabinet vitrine/ planter. This unique and versatile pair of cabinets are raised by cabriole legs below a bombée shaped apron. The glass door is decorated by a fanciful giltwood lattice design and ormolu keyhole escutcheon. Above lays its removable Rouge Royal marble top. The door, with all of its original hardware including lock and keys, opens to two fitted and adjustable shelves. The marble top can be removed to accommodate the accompanied interior metal insert, which when placed converts these cabinets into planters. Wonderful and versatile pair of well proportioned cabinets.
